VEIN DRESS

1 ST YEAR PROJECT

This was my first ever project that i did in Esmod Paris back in my first year. My inspiration was coming from veins and human body. I made this dress with a new embroidery technique that i found. In australia there is a artist called Meredith Woolnough and she makes sculptures with embroidery, my idea was using her technique in fashion design. The embroidery process is much different than the tradatio-nal one, the embroidery is stitching on the water slouble paper rather than fabric and after stitching, the process ends with hot water. When you put the embroidery in the hot water the paper dissolves and the embroidery stays like a sculpture. After making it dry for a day, i added the embroidery to my dress.
